Bible Trivia Game Night

Family Edition · 20 questions · a free printable game

A little friendly curiosity.

A Bible, a pencil and time together.

Two rounds of questions for families or small groups. Play in teams, look up answers together or choose just a few questions. The aim is a good conversation, not a test of anyone’s faith.

Start with these pages

Host: read page 2, then keep the answer keys on pages 5–6.
Players: use question pages 3–4, or listen as the host reads aloud.
Each team: use a copy of the answer and score sheet on page 7.

Print only what you need

This PDF uses A4 paper. Choose Actual size or 100%, and print single-sided so an answer key is not printed behind a question sheet. Check one page before printing the rest.

No scissors, card cutting or extra game pieces are needed. Use ordinary paper and pencils. Everyone may pass; the host can skip a question that does not suit the group.

Host a relaxed game

Keep this page and the answer keys with the host.

1. Pick your way to play

Team game: make two or more mixed-age teams and give each a pencil and page 7. Read each question aloud; teams write their answer.
Together: work as one group and use a Bible whenever you like. You can leave out points.

2. Choose a round

Old Testament questions are on page 3; New Testament questions are on page 4. Play one round or both. Read the questions yourself first and skip any that do not suit your group. Difficulty labels are suggestions, not age ratings.

3. Agree the rules before starting

Decide whether everyone may look answers up. For a scored game, give all teams the same thinking time; around 30 seconds is a starting point, with more time when needed. No need to race. Everyone writes before the host reveals the answer.

4. Check and score kindly

Keep pages 5–6 out of sight until answers are written. Accept equivalent wording and ordinary spelling mistakes. Suggested scoring: Easy = 1, Medium = 2, Hard = 3. Each full round has 21 possible points; both rounds total 42. If you skip a question, leave its points out for every team.

5. Finish together

Add each team’s points on page 7. A tie can stay a tie. Ask everyone to share one thing they learned, or look up one reference together. There is no need to play all 20 questions in one sitting.
